About Membership

The Marian Anderson Music Guild is the South Jersey Branch of the National Association of Negro Musicians (NANM). NANM members use this organization as a vehicle to network with musicians throughout the nation, leverage these contacts to expand their performance opportunities, attend training seminars and workshops, experience performances by world renowned artists and discover talented and dynamic young artists.

Membership dues support the operations of the NANM organization at the national level, the regional (Eastern Region) level and the local branch (MAMG). MAMG works aggressively to increase awareness of the African American Spiritual, promote the music of African American composers, support funding for the scholarship program, educate participants with informative workshops and entertain audiences with exceptional programs.
